TEN OHIOANS PERISH IN AUTO ACCIDENTS

"German Government Prisoner Of Oligarchy"

(Copyright, 1923, By the United Press)
PARIS, April 22.—(By the United Press)—The Berlin government is the prisoner of an industrial oligarchy similar to the old military oligarchy which seeks to force Germany into bankruptcy in an attempt to escape payment of reparations, meanwhile using the money due the allies to perfect a great industrial machine, Premier Poincare declared in an exclusive interview given to the United Press today.
Three French cabinet members returning from the Ruhr, report conditions satisfactory there and improving daily.
He charged that Berlin is directing the armed resistance, extending even to assassination of French soldiers.

"Some time powerless, more often as an accomplice, the government at Berlin is a prisoner of an oligarchy, like that of the old-time militarists, runs the empire, declared Poincare.
"No measures are taken to prevent exportation of capital. Insufficient taxes are inefficiently collected and the fall of the mark is augmented from week to week.
"But at the same time while they are thus preparing for bankruptcy, the money owed the allies is being employed to perfect an industrial machine and increase production in preparation for the economic struggle of the future.
"During this time how has France, who more than others was ravaged by German invasion and dragged from moratorium to moratorium, solved the problem of her devastated region? How has she provided homes for her unhappy peoples? Simply by substituting herself for her defaulting debtors. In January two-thirds of the colossal task was finished. To do it France was crushed with taxes and involved in debt. She was forced to spend in place of the responsible offer of damages the sum of 98 billion francs. Now you know why we are in the Ruhr.

Encouraged by the forbearance of the allies, the Germans flattered themselves France would sicken and finally abandon the project. It was necessary to put an end to this scheme," the premier concluded.

Dry Official Suspended

WASHINGTON, April 22.—(By the Associated Press)—Acting Prohibition Director Isaac Andrews, of Illinois, was suspended today, by Commissioner Haynes pending an investigation into the case of the Grommes-Ulich Distillery.
W. D. Moss, acting director of New Jersey, was designated to take charge of the Chicago office.
The suspension of Mr. Andrews added a new complication to an already tangled situation in Illinois. Appointment of a permanent state director has been delayed for many months because Commissioner Haynes and Senator McKinley and McCormick have been unable to agree on a selection. There had been reports that Mr. Andrews was to be made director. In the Grommes-Ulich case, liquor valued at $300,000, was distributed among stockholders as a result of dissolution of the firm. Mr. Andrews was in charge of prohibition enforcement during the dissolution proceedings.

Collisions Responsible For Most Of Them

(By the Associated Press)
Ten Ohioans are known to have met death in automobile accidents of yesterday and today and eight lie injured in hospitals. The causes of all but one of the accidents were similar—collisions between the machines and trains or electric cars.
The swerving of an auto from a road near East Liverpool resulted in the death of a boy and the injury of four others when the machine struck an oncoming traction car.
A road crossing collision near Lima brought the death of one man and the injury of four others.
The death of John Lomat, Cleveland, brought the city auto toll for 1923, to 29.

Near East Oil Row Up Before Conferees

LAUSANNE, April 22.—(By the Associated Press)—The question of the Near Eastern oil fields, especially those covered by the Chester concession, is in the foreground today as the allied and Turkish delegates meet in an effort to draft a peace treaty acceptable to both sides.
Whether the general subject of concessions comes before the conference formally seems to depend on the success of direct negotiations between British and French governments. France, it is believed, will probably insist on rights accorded her in 1914 by the former Turkish government and the British delegation has let it be known that it will support the last claim in the event the issue is brought before the conference.
Both Great Britain and France received the news of the Chester grant with a bit of uneasiness. France because she thinks the 1914 agreement gives her priority in territory covered by the concession and Great Britain because she is uncertain as to whether the region thus opened to American exploitation affects the mandated Iraq territory in which lie the valuable Mosul oil fields.
Delegates here understand that the United States will continue to support the open door policy.
As a legacy from the previous conversations the delegates have on their hands such troublesome questions as the legal rights of foreigners in Turkey and the Ottoman debt. Great Britain did not accept the last minute concessions made to the Turks last February on the question whereby foreign legal advisers to be named by the allies would be immune of all arrests of foreigners, and it seems likely that the questions will be reopened.

Swarm Of Naval Craft To Combat Rum Runners

BY DAVID LAWRENCE
(Copyright 1923 By The Portsmouth Times)
WASHINGTON, April 23.—The navy of the United States will be ordered into action soon against the rum runners on all coasts. President Harding has been advised that the only practicable course to stop bootlegging on the seas is to have the waters inside the three mile limit patrolled carefully by all the small craft of the American navy.
For the time being no effort will be made to tackle vessels flying foreign flags and lying outside the three mile limit, but under a recent court decision, the prohibition authorities feel justified in pursuing any vessel flying any flag which comes within the three mile limit and then makes a dash for outside waters.
Although the higher courts have not yet passed finally on the issue, prohibition officials point to the precedent established in Scandinavian countries where a twelve mile limit is observed by vessels chasing those engaged in smuggling. They have no doubt that the twelve mile limit will be upheld by the highest court and that it will have a distinct influence on the attitude of foreign governments.

Five Rescued Off Plane

NEW YORK, April 23.—(By the Associated Press)—Four men and a woman, passengers and crew of a seaplane, forced down to the waters off Coney Island last night, were rescued by the marine police after a sixth member of the party, Robert Dewey, owner of the flying ship, swam 100 yards to shore and summoned aid.
The five were rescued after they had given up hope of rescue, the police launch having drifted about for more than an hour before it picked up the disabled craft, which was dragging its anchor and drifting helplessly about the seas. Several waves had washed over the frail plane, threatening momentarily to sweep the weary passengers overboard.
The seaplane, the FL-1 left Langley Field, Virginia in company with the FL-2 at 11:45 Sunday morning, New York bound. The two planes are the property of the United Air Line owned by Dewey. The FL-1, piloted by Eugene Rhoads, of Washington, who was a mechanic on the Trans-Atlantic flight of the Navy NC-4, kept the FL-2 in sight until they reached Atlantic City where a landing was made. The two left Atlantic City shortly after six o'clock last evening bound for Rockaway Point, Long Island.
A pump used to circulate gasoline on the FL-1 began to function badly after Atlantic City was left and the FL-2 rapidly drew away. It was well after 11 o'clock when the plane was forced down a considerable distance off Coney Island. Wind and waves sent it gradually toward the shore and finally Dewey, one of the passengers, slid overboard and swam to shore to summon police aid. The woman passenger was Mrs. Muriel Boggs, of Detroit. J. Herbert Paskus, of New York, and two mechanics were the others aboard.

Dances 108 Hours

WASHINGTON, April 23.—(By the Associated Press)—Police interference was necessary today to stay the feet of the last two survivors of Washington's dance marathon, who after a mysterious disappearance during the night came back to a dance hall here and announced they were continuing unbroken the performance they began last Wednesday night. When the police broke up the dance the couple declared they were completing their 108th hour and had made a new world's record.
The couple, Elsie Weber, and William Farrell, both of Baltimore, had been taken to Mauchlor, Md., at midnight Saturday night to circumvent the Sunday anti-dance regulation in effect here. They disappeared suddenly at midnight last night however, after having danced 96 hours and when they reappeared here during the forenoon, they declared they had shifted their performance without a break to a road house in Virginia and then back to the capital.
The police invaded the hall shortly after noon, asked the manager for his fire permit and when he failed to produce one, cleared dancers and spectators into the street. In tears, Miss Weber accused the officers of a frame up to prevent her from making a record which would stand.

The last survivors of the other contests here, W. E. Gilbert, a Marine, and Joe Baltrosky, who served in the army during the war, quite early yesterday under the persuasion of the dance hall management which staged the contest after word was received that the police were about to raid the private apartment to which the dancers had been transported Saturday night. Baltrosky accepted a $100 purse as inducement to quit and Gilbert, who resisted the appeals a little longer, got $250 for his trouble, the latter turning in a mark of 76 hours.
WASHINGTON, April 23.—(By the Associated Press)—Surgeon General Cummings warns contestants in dancing marathons, that their excess might cause acute heart dilation and sudden death, and added that such dancers might expect weakened hearts the remainder of their lives with the probable shattering of their nervous systems.

Nine Rescued From Island

FRANKFORT, MICH., April 23.—(By the Associated Press)—Eight woodsmen and woman cook, who had been marooned on South Fox Island, are recovering today from the effects of weeks of scant rations. The party, with an aviator whose plane was wrecked in an attempt to take food to the island, were brought here last night by a steel ferry.
Efforts to reach the sufferers with food began last Wednesday when three of the party reached the main land after a perilous trip across floating ice. The three told the story of the suffering of their companions and airplanes immediately began a race for the island.
Three planes were wrecked in attempting to carry supplies to the stranded wood cutters.

LORAIN, O., April 23.—(By the Associated Press)—Police are searching today for the father of 12-year-old Joseph Czajka, who after two years in lock and chains in an upstairs room at his home, was rescued by police late Saturday.

Governor Donahey Has Vetoed 50 Measures

COLUMBUS, O., April 23.—(By the Associated Press)—Returning three more bills to the houses of their origin this morning without approval, Governor Donahey increased his score of vetoes to fifty. Other vetoes are expected during the day.

Measures to receive the governor's disapproval today were to increase the number of jail matrons permitted to be employed in a county from three to four; permitting corporations to dispense with the word "the" at the beginning of the name, providing it ends with "company," "corporation," or "inc.," and providing for the guarding of ballots in election contests by city policemen.

As to the extra jail matron, the governor asserted he cannot see the need for her and would only add additional expense; the guarding of contested election ballots by city policemen, he said, reflected on the integrity of election boards and would add additional expense, also the contest may be held in a township, yet the county seat would have to furnish the guards which might be for months or even years.

The governor said he could see no valid reason for amending the present law relating to names of corporations and the proposal to drop the word "the" would only add confusion.

COLUMBUS, O., April 23.—(By the Associated Press)—The veto count today stood at 47 after the governor had reviewed three additional bills Saturday afternoon.

In disapproving the Emmons bill which would have provided for a board of nine trustees for the Kent Normal School, an increase of four trustees, the governor in his veto message declared the bill to be a "sample of the evils that may flow from the discreditable haste such as occurred in your halls in the midnight hours of April 6."

The governor explained that the bill had been amended by the senate reducing the number of trustees from nine to seven, but left intact the house injunction that within 30 days the governor shall appoint four members and further providing that "all members now serving shall continue" in that capacity.

"This of course," he said, "would bring the number back to nine."

Another bill to be disapproved, one by Senator Leggett, involves Wilburforce University under which appointment of the superintendent of the combined industrial and normal department at the school would be subject to the state controlling board.

Under these provisions, Mr. Donahey said, "this appointment by the board of trustees of Wilburforce, is to be subject to the approval of the governor, state auditor, attorney general and chairman of the house and senate finance committees."

The third bill to be vetoed was the Gardner bill which would permit appointment of a probate judge as administrator, executor or guardian of an estate.

The prohibition enforcement contingent has deferred to the wishes of the department of state in recent months, refraining from any act which might cause international complications by seizure of vessels outside the three mile limit and the effect of this policy has been to give Secretary Hughes an opportunity to negotiate quietly with foreign governments so that their cooperation in preventing their own vessels from conspiring to violate American laws might be secured.

Principle Involved Important
There is a feeling in official circles

here that the British government has lately been disposed to view with much more favor the overtures of the United States government for a better understanding with respect to the suppression of rum running. The principle involved is an important one, for if Great Britain were indifferent to a conspiracy to violate American laws there might be a reciprocal indifference exhibited in some future cases involving the same general idea but of much more serious import to the British Empire. Debates in the British parliament within the last few weeks have indicated a belief on the part of the members there that an American sentiment against Great Britain might be built up if rum running was countenanced by the British through improper clearance papers and similar devices. Whether this is a correct view of American sentiment is beside the subject, for if President Harding insists to the British government that better cooperation be practiced he is very likely to have his way. What the British want really is to see whether the United States government is itself in earnest. The ordering of the navy into the patrol business in one step which is being urged by prohibitionists because they believe it will be evidence of the good faith of the federal government.

Important Action Soon To Be Announced

President Harding has let it be known in the last 24 hours that the cabinet has discussed every phase of rum running and that the government is ready for important action soon to be announced. Before the step is taken, however, foreign governments will have to be advised of what is coming so that they may caution their nationals against engaging in conspiracies to violate American laws.

According to the prohibition enforcement officers here, rum running has declined materially in the last few months, chiefly because of the disputes among the rum runners themselves, the growth of piracy among the rum runners themselves, the growth of piracy among the adventurous skippers of rum running vessels and the huge cost of arranging for the shipment ashore of liquor from the larger to the smaller vessels. The wireless is the principal medium of communication but the government is exercising not only a close watch on the radio apparatus of the rum runners but is keeping an eye on the small craft. It is admitted, however, that the rum runners have had much the better of it in evading the government control, especially in Florida waters, but the use of the navy is expected to change that aspect materially. All the subchasers and light craft which have been idle since the war may be manned by the navy and sent on the enforcement patrol. The administration has been hard pushed by the "drys" to take this drastic step and the drift today is toward complete and effective use of the sea forces of the government to uphold the Volstead act.

Cocoon Oil Fine
For Washing Hair

If you want to keep your hair in good condition, be careful what you wash it with.
Many soaps and prepared shampoos contain too much free alkali. This dries the scalp, makes the hair brittle, and is very harmful. Multisilf coconut oil shampoo (which is pure and entirely greaseless), is much better than anything else you can use for shampooing, as this cannot possibly injure the hair.
Simply put two or three teaspoonsful of Multisilf in cup or glass with a little warm water, then moisten the hair with water and rub the Multisilf in. It will make an abundance of rich, creamy lather, and cleanse the hair and scalp thoroughly. The lather rinses out easily, and removes every particle of dust, dirt, dandruff and excess oil. The hair dries quickly and evenly, and it leaves it fine and silky, bright, fluffy and easy to manage.
You can get Multisilf coconut oil shampoo at any drug store. It is very cheap, and a few ounces will last everyone in the family for months. Be sure your druggist gives you Multisilf. — Advertisement.

When Women Begin To Lose Youth and Charm
Dr. Frederick S. Kelle, the New York author of medical text books, whose opinions are greatly valued, writes:

"When the nerve tissue begins to lose its vitality, woman begins to lose her youth and vivaciousness. Her lively, pleasant disposition fades away, she becomes irritable, moody and despondent. It would be a godsend if more men and women were aware of the efficacy of Bipro-Phosphate." "Thousands of thin, run-down people whose nervous energy is nearly exhausted are turning to Bipro-Phosphate which is dispensed by all good druggists, because it re-vitalizes the nerves and brings back energy and mental keenness." — Advertisement.

VICKS VAPOR

have never made a list of the impossible people—at least I hope we never have—but we need no proof of their existence. And yet it may be wise to note at the beginning that, though they seem impossible to us, they are not impossible to their friends—much less to their own selves. I don't think the people you have in mind are doing the "little things" you speak of to annoy you. They may not take your likes and dislikes into consideration at all. What makes these people impossible—at least to you—is that, by fate or duty or circumstances you are brought too close together. If you only met them occasionally, it would be different.

Then, too, the fact that they "deliberately" do things shows that they don't care what you think about it. It also shows that they are not trying to do things behind your back. I think you have a case of "nerves" or else you are working your imagination over time. If you would increase your happiness and sweeten your nature, make up your mind to forget the "little things" that worry you. Forget the fault-finding and give little thought to the cause that provoked it; forget the peculiarities of your friends and only remember the good points which make you fond of them. Tear that page out of your past and start out with a clean sheet and write upon it only those things which are lovely and lovable. The only way to be happy is to do what is right yourself, and take it for granted that everybody else will do the same.

Dear Dolly—Please advise me what to do to avoid sticking feet.

THANK YOU.
Do you want to avoid your own feet or those of some one else? I don't blame you in either case. However, sticking feet is a disease, and not due to habits of uncleanness, as is often hinted, and sometimes, perhaps stated in not the most pleasant language. Frequent washing does no good, and if the unfortunate person who has "sticking" feet is at all sensitive, he or she is doomed to much unnecessary discomfort. Odorous perspiration of the feet may be a disease of the skin, of its glands, or dependent upon some disease of the system which first must be removed before the cure is possible. The hose should be changed twice a day. The daily change of socks is also advantageous. If this is not possible, felt insoles may be worn which can be changed with hose. Upon removal they should be wetted in chlorinated soda and dried for further use. Daily, or twice a day, the feet should be soaked for some time in salt or soda water. A few drops of formaldehyde is also recommended for twenty feet. You could also dust talcum powder or some of the powders on the market for this purpose. If you will inquire at the toilet counters in our local stores they will recommend a preparation that they sell to remove perspiration odor.

MRS.—You write a good hand and you seem to be an intelligent woman, but your letter was, to use a popular slang expression, about the "dumbest" thing I have read for a long while. I couldn't figure out what you were trying to say and I am sure you did not know yourself what you wanted to say. If you owe the woman an apology, tell her about it the next time you see her and let it go at that. Hereafter don't be so selfish and hateful. You have learned from experience that it doesn't pay.

Now is the time to fight constipation with Bran—Start to-day!

Don't give the diseases that follow in the track of constipation a chance to lodge in your system! Get after constipation with the naturally greatest health-giver—BRAN. Kellogg's Bran, cooked and branmed—because it is ALL BRAN and because it will give you permanent relief from constipation! It is scientifically prepared to relieve suffering humanity from constipation and it will do that.

Bran's action is wonderful. It sweeps and cleanses and purifies. It knocks out the dangerous toxic poisons and frees the system from pollution. Try Kellogg's Bran for a week. Eat it regularly—two tablespoonsful each day; as much each meal in chronic cases. You will be astounded at the difference in your feelings!

Kellogg's Bran should not be confused with common bran which is unpalatable and difficult to eat. Kellogg's is cooked and all ready to serve and really delicious. Eat it as a cereal, sprinkled over your favorite hot or cold cereal or cook or mix it with cold cereal. In the latter case add two tablespoonsful for each person.

Do you realize what Kellogg's Bran can do for you and for your family; do you realize that it will keep sickness away; that it will put every one on a new health footing; that it will free you all from pills and cathartics?

Kellogg's Bran is particularly delightful made in raisin bread, in macaroons, popovers, muffins, etc. Recipes are printed on each package.

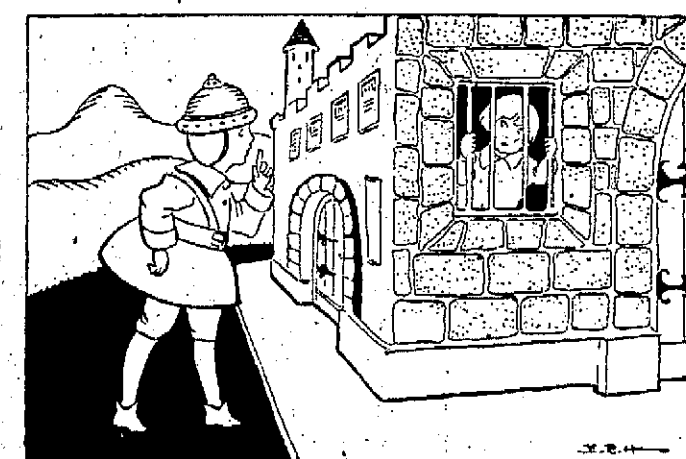

You will say that Kellogg's Bran is a blessing to humanity.

All grocers sell Kellogg's Bran!

ADVENTURES OF THE TWINS

NANCY RESCUES NICK

There was Nick looking out between the bars of the window.

Nancy flew away in her airplane to look for Nick.

She flew right over Bing-Bang Land and all the Bing-Bang Landers cried out, "There goes another of those queer birds like we saw a little while ago."

Soon she came to the place where the tin soldier camp was. She remembered what the Tinker Man had told her and flew very high so that none of them could shoot at her.

When she was right over the army, she reached for a gas bomb and dropped it. It was only a sleeping gas bomb really.

Then she leaned out and watched to see what would happen.

Edddy!

She heard the bomb hit the ground and burst.

Almost instantly General Hobbles fell over on the ground, snoring.

Then Colonel Butter Cup fell over, and Major Straight Back, and Captain Bow Legs and Lieutenant Shiny.

Not only Nick but all the wooden soldier prisoners were free at last.

"Oh, thank you!" they said, "We're ever so much obliged."

And they marched back to their own army.

Nancy and Nick got into Nancy's airplane and sailed away.

What Scientists Say About The Chief Elements of Father John's Medicine

If you find yourself getting listless, lazy and inactive, do not attribute your condition to the so-called "spring fever." You are really in a run-down condition.

and are suffering from a lack of proper nourishment. You need a tonic to build up new strength and health and to increase your power of resistance.

You should take just such a tonic as Father John's Medicine. The chief element of Father John's Medicine is commonly called by physicians "nature's greatest food."

This element is divided up into the finest particles which are readily taken up by even the weakest of digestive systems. Father John's Medicine nourishes the body tissue and enriches the blood, so that the people taking it are soon restored to normal health.

Be sure NOT TO STIR FONDANT WHILE COOLING, and to prevent it from returning to sugar while boiling, it has been found advantageous to add four or five drops of vinegar (not more). After thread stage has been reached in boiling, pour mixture into large china platter, if you wish to cut in squares or roll, but if not, drop from spoon on waxed paper in order to form patties.

These patties may be dipped when cold in chocolate by taking 1-2 pound bar of bitter chocolate which, previously had been melted in double boiler, having been sure NOT TO ADD ANYTHING TO CHOCOLATE WHILE MELTING. Beat chocolate until it is cooled to a temperature of the hands or blood heat.

BEGIN HERE TODAY

Acklin, boss of the Double A ranch, and Bodine, new owner of the old Webster place, plot together to steal the water supply from the Basques of Paradise Valley. Jose Arascada is shot and killed from ambush and leaves a daughter, Mercedes, and two sons, Esteban and little blind Basilio. Kildare, one of Acklin's men, falls in love with Mercedes. Bodine steals cattle from Acklin and the latter blames the Basques for his loss.

S.S.S. makes you feel like yourself again

NOW GO ON WITH STORY

"Somebody's running an iron on our stuff over in the Buttes," he burst out. "They're overbranding us and drivin' 'em out. I was up to the Noelle this morn, seen' what we'd have to do to that old road if we wanted to use it to haul rock. I got a sight of the hombraes from there."

Acklin uncrossed his legs lazily. "Guess we'll put a stop to that in a hurry. Better send a couple of the boys over there to dry-camp."

"And Kildare the only sober one in the bunch," the foreman muttered scornfully.

The Big Boss contracted his eyes. "Send him," he ordered. "He's been spotted by the Basques. By now, Cash, I reckon he won't come back until he's got his men. Let Melody go along."

Morrow started out, when Acklin called him back.

"About that rock," he began.

"We're going to need it."

The foreman's mouth opened in surprise.

"What?" he cried. "We're going to—"

"Build our dam,"

Cash flopped into a chair in actual physical weakness.

"When do we begin?" he finally asked in an awed voice.

"Today, I'm going to town to-night to get the stuff started on its way."

Kildare was glad of the chance to be on his own. Ranging through the Buttes would give him an opportunity to reconnoiter the mysterious house on Webster Creek without being seen.

A glance at Melody showed that weary man swaying from side to side as if he slept. But he managed to keep one eye half-open as he rode along.

"Guess a bed would look mighty good to you, right this minute," Blaze laughed.

Melody pulled his fingers, chain and all, from an inside vest-pocket. "That's my ace," he asserted, as he held up the charm that dangled from the end of his chain, for Blaze's inspection.

Blaze felt his pulse jump as he caught sight of it. Beyond the shadow of a doubt, it was the charm that had made the impression in the sand on the rim-rocks above Smoky Canon.

"Where'd you get this?" Blaze demanded anxiously.

"I suppose it's yours?" the other flashed back.

"I know what I'm talking about. When did you pick it up?"

"A couple o' days ago, in the sand around the hitchin-post, outside the door at the Bull's Head."

Healthy Liver Healthy Life

Your liver—healthy or clogged, active or sluggish—makes all the difference between a vigorous, cheerful life and a listless, ailing existence. To subdue a stubborn liver, overcome constipation, dizziness, biliousness, indigestion, headache and the blues there is nothing on earth so good as Carter's Little Liver Pills. Purely vegetable.

Small Pills—Small Dose—Small Price

Blaze handed back his watch. "I'm goin' to keep this, just because." He held the charm in his open palm. The red-haired one had caught something between the lines. Blaze glanced at him. "The man that owns this," he went on, "killed Old Ironsides."

CHAPTER XX

The Cattle Rustlers

WITH the slow advance of the freight train driven by the slower moving Wash the destiny of Paradise Valley was indissolubly linked. Cash had the road in shape. Where Martin Canon narrowed, a cable had been strung from bank to bank. The actual building of the dam only awaited the arrival of Wash and his precious load of dynamite.

By means of a flume, the creek had been directed around the dam. So, in complete safety, far from prying eyes, the structure took form.

In a light in the shoulder of one of the Timbered Buttes Buck and Shorly and Gloomy were busily engaged in a work that was nothing short of art. The good grass in the Buttes lured the cattle there. As Cash had said, the steers were ready for the market. The interesting fact had been perceived by the astute Buck some time back. He was now taking advantage of it to his own particular profit.

One of his first acts on taking over the Webster ranch was to register his brand; a circle W, with arrow. Back of his choosing this particular brand was concentration of a high order.

Running as many cattle as they did, the Double A branding was not always carefully done. Therefore about every fifth steer carried his Double A mark slantwise, or even upside down.

But stop to contemplate the metamorphosis that took place when one of these upside down brands was rectified. A circle burnt around the inverted letters made them look like a double A inverted. The deft placing of the arrow through them left no trace of Acklin's ownership.

"What a sucker Acklin is," Bodine chuckled, as he busied his points into the snorting steer on which he knelt.

Shorly and Gloomy loosened their ropes. Buck kicked the steer in the ribs, and it dashed down the arroyo.

Three miles to the north of them Disaster Peak raised its rocky head. On its flat surface, a field-glass to his eyes, lay Kildare.

For sixteen days Melody and he had roamed the Buttes.

Glasses to his eyes, Blaze resumed his sweeping inspection.

He again caught a hint of smoke to the south. A second—and it was gone. But as he watched, a tiny black cloud rose into the sky and hung pendant. He hurried the glasses to Melody as another patch of smoke went up.

"Somebody stampin' a fire out down there," Melody muttered as he looked.

Kildare was putting his saddle on his horse.

"They are better than an hour ahead of us. It'll be black night in the canons in two hours. We got to be in the open before then. It's just a chance; let's pound leather!"

CHAPTER XXI

An Offer for the Rancho

No hint of the building of the dam had reached Kildare and Melody.

Owing to Morrow's vigilance and old Wash's fondness for the mighty dollar, no word of the work had passed the Double A frontier.

Owing to Mercedes' care, Esteban was as well as ever. He kept the hacienda supplied with enough water Esteban posted his lookouts. Picks and shovels took the place of guns. With uncles primed for their task, and a will to fire them on, they attacked the barrier that had impoverished them.

The very intentness with which they applied themselves kept them from seeing a miracle that was happening even as they worked. Unnoticed, the swift current of the Rebel dropped to sluggishness. No longer did it dash into the mouth of the Webster. The change was slow and gradual; but over at Bodine's ranch it had been appallingly sudden.

for the bare necessities of life by sinking shallow wells in the bed of the creek.

Mercedes had gone to the cemetery and was on her way home when she came upon Acklin.

"Things look pretty bad down here," Mercedes said, with a show of sympathy. "I suppose you are pretty well discouraged."

"My people were never easily discouraged in the past, Senor," she answered with pride. "What we had, we made for ourselves."

"But I don't want to fight you," Acklin continued in that same low, uncompromising tone. "I'll buy the Rancho, and give you a good price; twice what I'd give anybody else."

THE BOY HAD, IN TRUTH, BECOME THE LEADER OF HIS PEOPLE. ALL TOOK ORDERS FROM YOUNG ESTEBAN.

"No! No! We may starve; you may even take the Rancho away from us by force. But we will not sell!"

"Here" comes Kent and your brother now. You talk it over with Esteban. I'll stand by my promise."

"Hello, Miss Mercedes," Tuscarora called out.

Without any preamble Joe jumped on the thing that was on his mind. "Brand and I got to the bottom of this fight a little sooner than we expected." He stopped to regard the Big Boss accusingly. "You play it whole hog or you, don't you?"

Acklin's answer was his stock grin.

"This fight goes far beyond any question of water," Tuscarora continued. "We wasn't votin' to suit you. It didn't matter as long as your crowd was doing the countin'. But with Brand gettin' ready to check up each vote and see that it went to the man it was cast for, well, something had to be done. So you hit upon this scheme to grab everything in sight, and starve us out of the county at the same time. It's been done before."

CHAPTER XXII

Building the Dam

OLD IRONSIDES' son moved about the town giving his commands with a new dignity that was subtly reminiscent of his father. Romero was pushed aside; he took his orders from Esteban.

The boy had, in truth, become the leader of his people.

That evening, an hour before sunset, they were to strike.

In orderly precision they moved on the Double A wire. When they were within a mile of it, they spread out fanwise to attack it from the west and south.

Guns were ready, the will to do or die in their hearts; but not a shot was fired.

The fence was unguarded. A quick use of nippers, and the wire was down. In double file they trailed up the dry bed of the stream, their guns held ready. Twenty minutes brought them within sight of the dead trees that marked the confluence of the Webster and the Rebel. They stopped.

Horses were left behind here. In Indian fashion they swarmed past the face of the mesa on which Kildare had lain the night the water was diverted.

Esteban posted his lookouts. Picks and shovels took the place of guns. With uncles primed for their task, and a will to fire them on, they attacked the barrier that had impoverished them.

The very intentness with which they applied themselves kept them from seeing a miracle that was happening even as they worked. Unnoticed, the swift current of the Rebel dropped to sluggishness. No longer did it dash into the mouth of the Webster. The change was slow and gradual; but over at Bodine's ranch it had been appallingly sudden.

Flays League's Opium Bill

WASHINGTON, April 23.—(By the Associated Press)—Assertion that action taken by the League of Nations assembly on the opium traffic was "intended to legitimize and thereby continue to encourage the sale of large quantities of the drug," was made by Chairman Porter of the house foreign affairs committee in a letter published today. In Lord Robert Cecil, leading British proponent of the league, Declining in his letter an appointment to discuss the activities of the league's opium campaign, Mr. Porter look sharp issue with a statement in an article by Lord Robert that the league had struck "vigorous blows" at such world evils as the sale of opium and cocaine. Citing the treatment by the league's assembly of a resolution similar to that adopted at the last session of congress to limit the production of opium and cocaine leaves to the quantity needed only for strictly medicinal and scientific purposes," Mr. Porter said the assembly had substituted the word "legitimate" for the phrase "strictly medicinal and scientific."

"It is perfectly obvious," he continued, that by this substitution the assembly intended to "encourage the sale of large quantities of this drug without restrictions on its use, which is 'legitimate' in the Oriental possession of many European countries and thereby preserve the enormous and immoral revenues which the opium producing countries derive from its production and sale."

Bullets Halt Jail Delivery

LANCASTER, O., April 23.—(By the Associated Press)—Two bullets from the pistol of Sheriff Charles Sperdy, frustrated the attempt of two prisoners to escape from the Fairfield county jail here last night after they had attacked the sheriff. One of the men, Itzard Blizard, 28, an ex-convict, is dead and Roy Babbitt, 25, is back in his cell suffering from a bullet wound in the shoulder. Both were under indictment for robbery.

Blizard attacked the sheriff as the two passed in a corridor of the jail, hitting him with his fists. Babbitt, the sheriff said, then slipped up from behind and struck him over the head with a milk bottle. As the officer fell to the floor, the pair dashed for the jail office. As they reacted an outside door, the sheriff fired and they fell into the street, one dead and the other wounded.

Both the men had been working as trustees about the prison.

May Be Victims Of Voodooism

CRISFIELD, MD., April 23.—(By the Associated Press)—The belief that the two negro children whose bodies with the heads completely severed, were found in a weighted sack in a pond last Thursday, were victims of voodooism was apparently gaining ground today.

According to a number of citizens here, voodoo ceremonies have been held by negroes, who held in awe the sorcerer who can work his audience up to a frenzy. These ceremonies, it is claimed, some times involve the sacrifice of negro infants.

Judge Fred H. Holland, asked if he had personal knowledge of voodoo meetings around Crisfield, said: "We have never looked for anything like this—that such meetings could have been going on and the sacrifices of human life made without the whites learning of it. We intend to sift this matter to the very bottom and if this is prevalent, we intend to break it up."

Because of the possibility that voodoo meetings were carried on at some distance from Crisfield and the bodies carried here for disposition, police say the investigation will be carried to all parts of the county.

Claims Offer Never Made

PARIS, April 23.—(By the Associated Press)—Premier Poincare speaking in the town of Void yesterday, asserted that the offer of thirty billion marks which Baron Von Rosenberg, Germany's foreign minister, recently told the reichstag was rejected by the allies without a bearing last January, was never made and was "invented for the occasion."

"If such an amount is now named," the premier said, "it is doubtless an attempt to please the German Socialists who suggested it."

Admitting "for the sake of argument, that Baron Von Rosenberg told the truth," M. Poincare asked what would follow and thus answered his own question.

"That Germany after formally admitting her indebtedness of 132,000,000,000 marks in May, 1921, and after having obtained in return for this admission the concession that the Ruhr should not be occupied beyond January, 1923, to offer the allies less than a quarter of the sum promised by her and fixed by the reparation commission."

Court House

Prisoners Arraigned; Many Deaf Gulls

There was a general arraignment in Common Pleas court Monday of persons indicted by the recent grand jury and of the fourteen men and women who appeared before Judge Thomas only two pleaded guilty while the others denied guilt of the charges brought against them and will stand trial.

Goldie Hudson, well known North End woman, charged with manslaughter in connection with the alleged unlawful killing of Thomas Cole on February 23 last, pleaded not guilty and she was released on bond pending trial. The accused will be defended by Attorney H. L. Small.

Hugh McDougal, 21, Wilmington, N. C., pleaded not guilty to two charges of cutting with intent to wound Russell and Clay Adams during a fight which occurred at Fourth and Chillicothe streets on the night of March 4 last. The accused claims that he acted in his proper self-defense.

James Mosley, N. & W. German, charged with bigamy, pleaded not guilty, but later indicated his desire to change his plea. He admitted that he married Rose Whitley in this city last February, after he claims he was informed that his first wife, Mrs. Sindy Hubbard, whom he married in Clay county, Ky., in 1913, had obtained a divorce in Knox county, Ky. Attorneys McLaughlin and Staker were appointed to defend.

Leo Grimm, of Slab Run, West Side, pleaded not guilty to burglarizing the Thomas Stump poolroom at Newoo of 100 pounds of sugar and other property on the night of March 15 last, and he was released under bond pending trial.

William Porter, charged with picking the pockets of Dan Ehrhart, of 137 on March 3 last, pleaded not guilty and he was released on $1,000 bond pending trial.

Morris Brown, charged with abandoning his two illegitimate children, Dora and Doris Gumbert, seven months old, pleaded not guilty. He is out on bond.

Harold D. Phillips, charged with nonsupport of his three minor children, pleaded not guilty and in default of $1,000, he was remanded to jail pending trial.

George B. Jones, charged with nonsupport of his legitimate child, now an inmate of the Scioto County Children's Home, pleaded not guilty and Attorney A. C. Woodrow was appointed to defend. Jones claims that when the boy was placed in the home in July 1921, it was agreed that he was to be placed out within three weeks, besides, the accused declared, no demand had since been made upon him to pay for the lad's maintenance.

Maud Lowe, charged with larceny in connection with the alleged theft of wearing apparel valued at $50 from Ida and Lena Frick, denied guilt and she was released on bond. The accused will be represented by Attorneys Blair and Blair.

Roy Rice, alias Robert Rice, indicted three times, twice for larceny of chickens from Mrs. Elizabeth Ruggles and an auto tire from J. P. Schaffer and for burglarizing the home of Ralph Calvert on Second street, appeared not to comprehend the charges against him and the court accepted the plea of not guilty for the time being. Attorney Thos. K. Funk was appointed to represent the prisoner, who appears to be suffering from some form of mental trouble. "Rice," who is said to be a native of Maryland, is a veteran of the World War and his present pitiful condition is claimed to have resulted from shell shock while fighting in France and an effort may be made to send him to some government hospital for treatment. Rice won distinction for bravery in the war, according to his honorable discharge, and this won for him his freedom a year ago when he was before the court for the theft of some harness in the West End.

William Jones, negro, pleaded guilty to stealing rings valued at $42.75 from the A. W. Apol jewelry store on Gallia street on March 2 last, and he was sentenced to the Mansfield reformatory, but his companion, Charles Johnson, also colored, pleaded not guilty. On motion of the prosecutor, Judge Thomas later nolleed the indictment as to Johnson and ordered Sheriff Harry M. Dunham to turn the prisoner over to the Federal authorities for prosecution under the drug act or to the Huntington police who want him on burglary and larceny charges. It is said. The prisoner is represented by Attorney H. L. Small.

Leo, Erwin, negro, pleaded not guilty to shooting at with intent to kill Robert Hardin on February 12 last, and he was ordered held under $500 bond pending trial. He will be defended by Attorney H. L. Small.

J. R. Adams, 40, of Salsersville, arrested by the New Boston police on April 2 for gun-toting, pleaded guilty and he was fined $10 and costs and sentenced to jail for thirty days.

Accused of Giving Invalid Check
Paul Johnson, foreigner, arrested in Cincinnati under an indictment brought against him last December for issuing a worthless check in the sum of $150 on the Security Bank, was returned to Portsmouth last night by Sheriff Harry M. Dunham, to answer to the charge.

John, who conducted the White Front restaurant on Gallia street for several months, claims that he gave the check in question when his finances became strained, expecting to later secure funds to take it up and exhibited receipts to show that he had made several payments in an effort to make good the amount of the invalid check. He is represented by Attorney W. H. Sprague who hopes to effect a settlement and secure the release from custody of the accused.

Colored Lad Detained

John Mangum, 14, was the name given by a colored youth picked up in the railroad yards at East Portsmouth by Probation Officer Eirman Gilliland early Monday and brought to the Juvenile ward at the county jail where he is detained pending word from relatives. The lad told a strange story of having run away from the home of his uncle in Kimball, W. Va., to search for his father, whose name he did not know, but hoped to find him in Youngstown, which city was the boy's destination.

Strait In Name Only

Although his name is Fred Strait, he was not so straight when he was taken into custody Sunday by Deputy Sheriff Carl Schneider while attempting to make his way along Rosemount Road. Strait, who lives at 1537 Chillicothe street, was locked up on a formal charge of intoxication.

Attorney Meyer In Town

Attorney Will J. Meyer, formerly of this city, now of Columbus, where he is connected with the Attorney-General's office, motored down from the Capital Sunday for a brief visit with relatives. Will is looking well and is getting along swimmingly in the Capital City. Before departing for home today he was greeted by friends at the Court House and over town and he was warmly greeted by his former neighbors.

HAL KITE AND A LIZZY MUSICAL COMEDY AT SUN

Starting with this afternoon's matinee this week's attraction at the Sun is popular Hal Kite, comedian de luxe, who is the headliner in Billy Allen's "Live, Love and Laugh Revue," a musical comedy company of 22 people presenting one dollar shows at popular prices. A riot of gaiety and a medley of color describe the A-1 musical shows presented by this most capable company starring a large chorus of pretty girls who can really sing and dance. "Billy Allen" had a show here about two years ago and is known for his successful bills. The offering for the first half is "Broadway a la Carte."

Prominent in the show are Yolandi Julianne, the diminutive prima donna, whose trained voice is most pleasing; Alice Meade, comedienne; Billy Van and Peggy Mack, a pair of ingenues who also interpret the "Blues" numbers in a most fascinating manner; Jack Van, whose appearance resembles the late picture star, "Willie Reid," is a pleasing juvenile and his rendition of snappy songs a la Eddie Cantor are a classic. The dancing quartet, Phil and Peggie, are pastmasters in the art of tap-dance and together with Leroy Batle, they exhibit a brand of dancing excellent the majority of wooden shoe dancers. Batle is a brother to A. Batle, famous as Al Johnson's leading man. Phil Grehards is a leading man of such experience. Phil Hart is also a first class comic and is chief to Kite.

A five reel feature photoplay, "Nobody's Belide," starring Herbert Rawlinson with Alice Lake in the added attraction. Daily matinees at 2:30 with only one show at night, starting at 7:45.

Those attending are asked to bring their own sandwiches and the other refreshments will be furnished by the Group members. A shower for the Girls' School at Olive Hill, Ky., will also be held at this time and the mite boxes will also be opened.

Mr. and Mrs. Bert MacGruder of 1720 Eleventh street and their daughter, Mrs. C. B. Clark and children motored to Washington C. H. Sunday and spent the day with relatives and friends.

Mr. and Mrs. James K. Green (Carrie Midway) who were married in this city last Friday, left Saturday for Cleveland, where they will make their future home.

Mr. and Mrs. Earl Carson of 1413 Twelfth street and Mr. and Mrs. Ernest (Bud) Power and son Russell of Officers street and Mr. Gatewood Webb motored to Mr. Vernon, Ohio, Sunday, and spent the day with Mrs. Carson's sister, Miss Bessie Hollingsworth, who is taking a course of treatment at the Mt. Vernon sanitarium. The visitors found Miss Bessie very much improved in health, and well pleased with her surroundings.

Mr. and Mrs. George Funk, Mr. and Mrs. H. Newman and children, and Mrs. H. E. Reed motored to Chillicothe Sunday, and spent the day with friends.

The Jack Tar Club will meet on Thursday afternoon at the home of Mrs. B. C. Holbrook on Lincoln street.

Mrs. L. B. West delightfully entertained the members of the Whitehall Club Saturday afternoon at her home on Grandview avenue. Delightful social work and social chat were the order of the day. A delicious lunch was served to Mrs. A. F. Haight, Mrs. E. L. Craden, Mrs. John R. Williams, Mrs. C. D. Miller, Mrs. L. L. Thomas, Mrs. B. C. Holbrook, Mrs. E. N. Fetter and Miss Della Puckett.

Laurette Taylor Stars in "Reg O' My Heart" at Eastland Theatre

The work of bringing the masterpieces of the stage within reach of every home, into communities never reached by stage performances, has another striking contribution in the translation to the world of the screen of the famous stage play, "Reg O' My Heart," in which Laurette Taylor made her memorable characterization of Peg which has become world-wide in fame.

"Reg O' My Heart" now a Metro picture with Laurette Taylor appearing in her famous role, comes to the Eastland Theatre for six days beginning Monday. This fascinating tale of a girl's life, the screen of the famous stage play, "Reg O' My Heart," in which Laurette Taylor made her memorable characterization of Peg which has become world-wide in fame.

It's a tale of an Irish father and an English mother of the Chichesters and Kingswolds, and of Sir Gerald Adair, Peg's legal guardian; and of the circumstances, amusing as well as heart-stirring, that attend the young girl when she leaves the little Irish farm house where she was born and ventures among strangers to whom good form is the cardinal requirement.

As in the stage play, Miss Taylor has the assistance of Michael, the famous canine actor with the merrillous name. Michael has been with Miss Taylor in all her performances of Peg.

The screen production of "Reg O' My Heart" was directed by King Vidor. Miss Taylor's brilliant supporting cast includes such capable and popular players as Mahlon Hamilton, Russell Simpson, Ethel Gray Terry, Nigel Barron, Lionel Belmore, Vera Lee, Helen West, and J. D. B. O'Hara.

REV. DAILEY LOS ES TRAVELING BAG

Rev. E. H. Dailey, pastor of the United Brethren church, lost his leather traveling bag between Portsmouth and Chillicothe on Saturday morning. It contained a suit of clothes on which was fastened a Greek letter pin, a check book, shirts and other wearing apparel. Rev. Dailey and family were enroute to Chillicothe to visit relatives and discovered the bag was missing when they arrived in Chillicothe on Thursday and Friday. Mrs. Dailey will be in Columbus to attend a U. B. missionary meeting.

Motored Here From Columbus

J. L. Barry and family of Columbus, returned to that city today after a visit with his mother and sisters, Mrs. Richard Barry and Misses Margaret and Mayme Barry of Gallia street, and her sisters, Mrs. A. J. Weber of Vinton avenue, and Mrs. J. H. Orthmeyer of Scottdale. They were formerly residents of Portsmouth. The trip was made in their new Studebaker Six touring car.

MADE COPY OF "WHISTLER"

French Artist Lums. Finds His Work Copied at 150,000 Francs—Much Litigation in Prospect.

A still life painting ascribed to Whistler and priced at 150,000 francs has been declared by the courts to be in reality the work of a French painter, Stanley Stansky. The Frenchman is said to have painted the picture years ago in one day on a bet; he then sold it for fifty francs and then saw it as a famous picture with Whistler's name in the corner.

It was the reproduction of the picture in a book on Whistler, in which it was learnedly commented upon as revealing Whistler's peculiar genius, that brought about the exposure. Mr. Stansky and a fellow painter named Robin, it was shown in court, painted the same group of flowers, a vase, a jug and a glass of wine on a table, with two of their pretty models as judges.

Some time ago, when Robin sold his copy, the dealer indignantly charged that it was merely a copy of Whistler's, and for this reason, he told Stansky of his experience and the latter searched until he found the picture, which had traveled at increasing prices from dealer to dealer.

Stansky filed suit to recover the picture and have the signature changed, and asked for damages. Experts supported his contention, and the court now has upheld it to the extent of ordering Stansky's signature to be replaced that of Whistler.

The dealer who last bought the picture, paying for it 100,000 francs, says he will seek redress from the dealer who sold it to him, and continues litigation on down the line may result.—New York Tribune.

LIKE THE YELLOW PEARL

Oriental People Consider the Colored Gem Superior to the White in Many Respects.

Most persons have placed the lustre of a pearl above all others. The Chinese, however, together with other eastern peoples, prefer the yellow pearl, believing that it preserves both luster and color longer than the white.

This pearl is said to owe its yellow to the fact that the oysters have been allowed to die and rot in their shells, the shells opening of themselves, on the death of the oyster.

This custom has been ascribed to the fact that the pearl generally lies close to the edge of the shell, and it is feared that many fine pearls would be spoiled if the process of opening the shell with a knife were practiced.

Black pearls are very much valued. The famous necklace of black pearls belonging to the late Empress Eugenie was sold for $25,000. Pink pearls are much desired among the Buddhists, who employ them profusely in the adorning of their temples. The inhabitants of the island of Maldives place a pink pearl in the mouth of a dead relative or friend before cremation of the body.

Rain Helps Fire Fighters

A Sonora (Calif.) man, taking an early stroll one Sunday morning in 1851, accidentally stubbed his toe with great violence against a large stone. In his wrath and pain he was apoplectic, the stone in his grasp, and he fell on his back. The stone, when he noticed on the spot, he found it was the toe of his boot, the familiar and ever-welcome gleam of yellow. His flow of profanity came to an abrupt stop. He picked up the stone and carried it home affectionately in his arms. It brought him several thousand dollars.

Another Sonora man, driving a mule cart along the principal street of the town one morning after a rainstorm, had the good fortune to observe a golden streak left by the passage of the wheel through the mud. Stooping, he found a solid nugget weighing about 35 pounds. Thousands had passed over the same spot, but the luck was with him.

Supposed to Be Funny. Bilkins is fond of riddles. Here is the latest infliction he is trying on his friends:

"It was done when it was begun; and yet it wasn't done when it was finished. Now, what was it?"

Of course his friends could not guess. Whereupon Bilkins explains. "Timothy Johnston once said to Susanah Dunn. It was Dunn when it was begun; it was Dunn when it was half done; and yet it wasn't Dunn when it was done—was it Susanah?"

Male Deer Shed Horns Each Year. Male deer, known as stags, bucks or harts, have solid, branching horns, or antlers, which they shed each year. Excepting reindeer, female deer, also called hinds or does, do not bear antlers, nor do the young, which are known as fawns. Antlers are outgrowths of the skull, and are at first very sensitive, hence covered with flesh and velvety skin. When the antlers are fully developed the skin dries and is removed by rubbing against trees leaving bare bones.

Revival of Wood Engraving. The art of wood engraving is very old. When it was rare to find a printer who could write, the first communions in all saints' church Sunday and the inspiring services were largely attended. There were 21 in the class and they heard an able sermon delivered by Rev. Powell.

Mathematics. Showman—'An' now, ladies and gents, there's this 'ere ballgame. Note the length. Fifteen feet from the tip of the nose to the tip of the tail, and fifteen feet from the tip of the tail to the tip of the nose—thirty feet in all."

Demands Her Share. "I never have any kind of poker," "Nonsense. Why, you're been winning right along."

"Yes, I know. But some one is tipping off my wife!"

Street Carnival Moves To New Boston; No Gambling, Says Mayor Newberry

The Gooding street fair, which held forth on the Industrial League ball ground last week moved to New Boston Sunday for a week's stay.

Rev. Pearl Hughes of the New Boston Baptist church with Rev. H. Stewart Tillis of Portsmouth called upon Mayor Newberry of New Boston this afternoon and discussed whether this afternoon and discussed whether the gambling wheels could be allowed to operate at the carnival.

Rev. Tillis was instrumental in halting the gambling wheels at the carnival grounds last week and expects to see to it that they do not flourish at New Boston this week.

Mayor Newberry after the conference said that the officers would see to it that there was no gambling at the carnival. It is showing for the benefit of the village firemen who are to receive $500 for new uniforms.

Claims Boy Beaten To Death

ORLANDO, Fla., April 23.—(By the Associated Press)—An examination today of the body of Frank Patterson, Orlando youth, who died in a reform school at Ionia, Mich., indicated the youth had been beaten to death, according to the undertaker who made the examination.

Three large fractures were found on the skull, the principal wound being on top of the head, which, it is said, by those examining the body, did away with the theory that the boy had come to his death from the effects of a fall to the floor, received in a riot in the institution.

There were three other minor wounds on the forehead, plastered over by the Ionia undertaker with some sort of substance like rouge to cover up the scars, it was stated.

The youth's parents, announced last week they had received a letter from an inmate of the reformatory, which said their son had died from the effects of a beating administered by a guard.

At the time of Patterson's death, Warden Sherrin was in Lansing and reported that Patterson had probably died from injuries sustained when he fell against a locker during the melee. Since then, he said, a coroner's inquest has revealed that he was struck on the head by the guard and other information has been obtained to show that the guard struck Patterson to ward off attack.

Lift the Feet and Uplift the Dance, Say the College Set Leaders

Drawing the Dancers Out in the Open. Some Fantastic Anti-Cheeking Devices Tried Recently in a New York Ballroom. The Young Woman Protected by the Chicken Wire Is Dorothy Dupont. Marjorie O'Neill and William Hennessey Try Out Another "Close-up Preventer" in the Centre Photograph, While a Third "Spacer" Cramps the Style of Anna Wade and John Janis.

By ARTHUR MURRAY

Director of the National Institute of Social Dancing

DANCING has improved this year and all because the younger members of Society, especially the college boys, have originated steps which are graceful and which require considerable thought and skill. In other words, you must keep your mind on your feet if you want to be up-to-date in a ballroom nowadays.

Some people object to dances where the feet are raised to any extent. Yet the new steps require it. And didn't our fathers and mothers jump about in the Schottische and the Lancers?

The dances of the zoological names are gone—the "Kangaroo Glide," "Walking the Dog," and so forth. This year the euphonious and rhythmic "Lorraine Waltz" and "Harvard Taps" are the favorites. Collegians are responsible for the Waltz, which they popularized in Lorraine Hotel, New York, when they played hooky from nearby colleges to try out new steps.

These steps afford a welcome relief from the vulgar contortions that made some of the older dances objectionable.

THE LORRAINE WALTZ

This dance consists of a number of Waltz variations. It is not necessary to use these steps in place of the ones you already know. Simply add these new variations to your list of Waltz steps. Remember that the more steps you do in a dance, the more interesting is your dancing, not only to yourself but to your partners as well. All men should have a wide variety of steps. A girl should know as many variations as she can learn, so that no matter what steps the man may do, she will have a perfect knowledge of his steps and be prepared to do them with him.

At first, do the combinations in the same sequence as they are given in this article. Later, after you have mastered all of the steps and can do them perfectly, you may do them in any order you please.

Combination No. 1

MAN'S PART: Beginning with left foot, take a short slow step directly forward. Hold the weight on that foot for three beats of the music. Count 1, 2, 3, while the weight is on the left foot.

Then do a Forward Waltz Movement, beginning with the right foot. (The Forward Waltz consists of three quick steps; step forward with RF 1, LF diagonally to left, 2; draw RF up to left; weight on right, 3.)

Repeat the entire step of six counts. Remember that the first step, described in the first paragraph, is given three beats, while the Waltz Movement is given three beats, making six counts in all.

Note: To give your dancing more expression when doing the first step, of three counts, place the weight on the left foot on the first beat, then rise up high on the toes of the left foot on the second count, and lower the weight on the left foot on the third count. This rising up on the toes gives you a graceful motion and is much more pleasing than simply standing without motion on one foot for three beats of the music. Practise rising up and down on the left foot.

LADY'S PART: Beginning with the right foot, take one long slow step backward. Hold the weight on that foot for three beats of the music. Count 1, 2, 3, while the weight is on the right foot.

Take a Backward Waltz movement of three counts beginning with the left foot. (Step backward LF 1, step backward diagonally to right with RF 2, draw left foot up to right foot, weight on left 3.)

Repeat the entire movement of six counts. Read the note in the man's part. Practise rising on the right foot.

Combination No. 2

MAN'S PART: Begin with left foot and walk straight forward three long quick steps, counting LF 1, RF 2, LF 3. (Note that these three steps are done very quickly and smoothly and take one measure of Waltz time three beats.)

After the third step, place the right foot about ten inches to the right of the left foot and hold the weight on the right foot for three counts. (Count 4, 5, 6.) While the weight is on the right foot, close LF to right without placing any weight on left. Repeat the entire movement of six counts.

LADY'S PART: Begin with the right foot and walk backward three long quick steps, counting RF 1, LF 2, RF 3. (Note that these three steps are done very quickly and take one measure of Waltz time—three beats.) On the count of four, place the left foot about ten inches to the left of the right foot and hold the weight on the left for three beats, counting 4, 5, 6. While the weight is on the left foot, close RF up to left without placing any weight on the right foot. Repeat the entire movement of six counts.

The Rocking Movement in the Waltz

MAN'S PART: Step forward on the left foot and hold the weight on that foot for three beats of the music. As you take this step, let the body swing forward and rise up and down on your left foot. (The right foot is brought up to the left, but no weight is placed on the right foot.)

Take a long step backward with the right foot, rising up and down on the right and holding the weight on that foot for three counts. (The left foot is brought up to the right, but no weight is placed on the left.)

Note: that by stepping forward with the left foot and then stepping backward with the right, rising up and down on each step, you do a rocking movement. The body sways forward, then backward. Each step is given three beats of the music.

The step is completed by taking two Forward Waltz Movements beginning with the left foot. The Forward Waltz Movements take six counts and you finish with the weight on your right foot.

Repeat the entire step. (Rock forward on left, rock backward on the left foot. The Forward Waltz Movements take six counts and you finish with the weight on your right foot.)

Repeat the entire step. (Rock forward on left, rock backward on right, then take two Forward Waltz Movements of six counts.)

LADY'S PART: Step backward on the right foot and hold the weight on that foot for three counts. (At the same time draw the left foot up to the right without placing any weight on the left foot.)

Step forward on the left foot and hold the weight on that foot for three counts. (Draw the right up to the left without placing any weight on the right foot.)

Take two Backward Waltz Movements beginning with right foot. The Backward Waltz Movement takes a total of six steps so that you finish with your weight on the left foot.

THE HARVARD TAPS

Combination No. 1

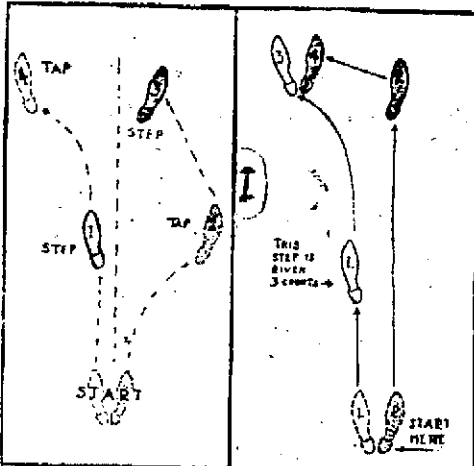

MAN'S PART: Take a long slow walking step straight forward with the left foot (1) and tap (2) the right foot lightly at your right side; immediately after the tap, quickly extend the right foot in front. The tap and the extending of the right foot in front should be done in one motion while the weight is on your left foot.

Then step forward with your right foot (3) and with your left foot (4) tap at your left side and then quickly extend the left foot in front. Remember that the tap is a very light one and that only the tips of your toes touch the floor.

Practise the above about 30 minutes or until you can walk with a free, easy swing. Remember that while you step forward with one foot, the other foot takes a light tap and is quickly swung in front. This movement of extending the foot in front should be a smooth easy one and should not be done in a jerky manner.

MAN'S PART: 1. Take a long slow step straight forward with the left foot. While the weight is on the left foot, tap the right foot lightly at your right. While you make the tap with the right, incline your body slightly sideways to the left.

2. Take a long slow step straight forward with the right foot, weight on right. That's all. Repeat the entire step of two counts. Begin by taking a long, straight step forward with the left foot.

This step should be done with abandon. Dance in as carefree a manner as possible.

Remember that the tap is done by lightly placing only the tips of the toes to the floor. It is a quick movement with one foot while the weight is on the other foot.

2. With left foot, take a long slow step straight backward, weight on left. That's all.

Repeat the entire step. Begin with the right foot and take a long slow step straight backward.

Note: that when you do the tap with the left foot, the body sways slightly to your right. When you tap with the right foot, the body sways slightly to your left.

The Open Position Step in the Harvard Taps

The open position is assumed for this step. In the open position the dancers stand about eight inches apart and face one another as in the regular Waltz position. The man has his back to the centre of the room. The lady faces the centre of the room.

MAN'S PART: This step consists of a Two-Step and one slow walking step, taken sideways to the left. The first part, the Two-Step, is the same as two slides to the side. The second part is simply one slow walking step in which the right foot is crossed over the left foot. The complete count is ONE—AND—TWO—THREE.

Repeat entire step three more times, making 12 counts in all.

LADY'S PART: Read the man's part. Note that the man has his back to the centre of the room. The lady faces the centre and takes her steps to the right. The Tango step consists of a Two-Step to the right, then one slow walking step in which the left foot is crossed over the right foot. The count is ONE—AND—TWO—THREE.

TWO—Slide right foot to right.

Johnny Wilson Fights Tonight

CHICAGO, April 22.—Johnny Wilson, middleweight pugilistic champion of the world except in some states, which ignore his claim and recognize a various assortment of champions, will make his Chicago debut tonight when he meets Panama Joe Gans in a ten round, no decision bout. Frankie Genaro, the American flyweight champion, will try to catch Pat Moore, the Memphis, Tenn., jumper, in another ten round no decision contest.

Wilson tonight will enter the ring after a long lay-off marked by constant bickering, accusations, claims of illness and then silence on his part. It will be his first start for a year. He is now under his new manager, who paid the record sum of $50,000 for his contract. Since he won the championship and then failed to defend it, numerous state governing bodies have withdrawn recognition of Wilson and have permitted other middleweights who campaign actively to assume the honor.

Kinks-o' the Links

It is a turn to play according to the position of the balls on the fairway. It plays and makes a beautiful drive that lands his ball on the green close to the pin. It is then discovered that he has played out of turn. It is a critical spot in a match. Has A the right to recall the stroke?

When the balls are in play, the ball farther from the hole shall be played first. Through the green or in a hazard, if a player plays, when his opponent should have played, the opponent may at once recall the stroke. No penalty is attached, the ball being dropped as near as possible to the place it lay.

What is the difference between casual water and a water hazard? "Casual water" is any temporary accumulation of water, whether caused by rainfall, flooding or otherwise, which is not one of the ordinary and recognized hazards of the course. A regular water hazard is so recognized. "Casual water" is regarded as any water that interferes with the lie of the ball or the stance of the player.

To Organize Nine

The Portsmouth Acc Club, after closing a successful basketball season, will organize an amateur basketball nine with the intention of playing junior teams of this section. The organization will be effected at a meeting at seven-thirty o'clock Thursday night at the home of Manager Billian, 627 Eighth street. All members are urged to be present.

LYNCH'S TITLE IN GREAT DANGER WHEN HE MEETS TREMAINE

THE impending row between Joe Lynch and Carl Tremaine should be worth seeing. The name of Tremaine has been buzzing in Lynch's ears for a couple of years. In New York, where Lynch is a great favorite, not much consideration was given Tremaine until Carl handed out a whipping to Johnny Turpin, building up to that knockout by also putting the K. O. sign on Marty Collins and Harold Faresse, two other champions of standing in the east.

Many keen fight observers believe Tremaine will whip Lynch. Whipping the champion all depends on Lynch. If Joe, who is an in-and-out, has one of his good nights it will be a fight well worth traveling many miles to witness; if Lynch is a bit off color he will be flattened.

So, in either case, there will be excitement—the excitement that is always present in the transferring of a title. Tremaine has more cleverness than Lynch, can hit harder and is almost as fast on his feet and with his fists.

Features Of Yesterday's Games

NEW YORK, April 22.—Major league baseball completed its first week yesterday, finding the New York Giants leading the National League with six games won and lost while Cleveland was on top for the Americans with five straight victories.

The Giants celebrated their second successive shutout over Brooklyn, in which five errors by the Dodgers contributed to their downfall. Scott hurled a good game for the Giants and Frankie Frisch aided with his bludgeon with four singles out of five tries.

Stengel connected with a circuit smasher. In the Americans, Cleveland shut out Ty Cobb's Tigers 1 to nothing in ten innings, and maintained a spotless record of five wins. The Chicago Cubs won their fifth consecutive game in a heavy hitting contest from the St. Louis Cardinals. Blades of St. Louis made a home run.

The Pittsburgh Pirates ran amuck and scuttled the Cincinnati Reds in a free hitting affair. The Pirates scored two runs or more in each of the last four innings and the Reds were unable to stop the onslaught. Barnhart connected with a home run.

The Yankees lost their first game of the season to Washington, in which five errors by the Yankees contributed to their defeat. Scott of the Yankees hit out a four base drive.

A squeeze play enabled the White Sox to win their first of the season at the expense of the St. Louis Browns. Willie Kamm, the $100,000 third baseman, helped the White Sox along with two singles.

Teeing Too High Usual Fault Among Golfers

BY MIKE BRADY
Western Open Champion

One of the worst faults of the beginner in golf is that of teeing too high. The same fault applies to many older hands at the game.

To have the ball well set up from the natural turf breeds a sense of security. It is not so far away from the eyes and hands. Moreover, the average beginner seems to have a downright fear of hitting the ground with his club.

You and I have seen him swing harmlessly over the ball time and again, most of the time because he tries to hit it too hard and pulls up his arms or body in so doing.

But the harmfulness of the high-tee habit goes further. It breeds a sense of security on the tee shot and, conversely, a timid and uncertain feeling about shots off the turf.

When the player comes to a close or cuppy lie he is utterly lost. He fears he will not hit the ball at all, and in endeavoring to get down to it, he tees to one bangs into the turf back of the ball. If he doesn't do that, he probably tops it or swings clear over it.

My advice to beginners is to spend a lot of time with brassie and spoon, as well as irons, hitting the ball off the turf and for a long time after taking up the game to get into the habit of teeing low.

Later, when proficiency comes, there will be found occasions when a high tee is desirable. Some golfers tee higher than normal starting a round, before their muscles are limbered up; some find the higher tee quite helpful when playing into the sun, which somewhat bothers the normal vision.

High tees are desirable at times playing with the wind. But, for beginners, the moderate to low tee.

FULLERTON WINS FROM PEEBLES

The Fullerton Giants yesterday won the opening game of the season from Peebles, which was a real slugfest, 10 to 12. Riffe started the game for Peebles, and was hit for six scores in the sixth frame when he was relieved by Bending, who was also hit for six runs in the last frame. Nichols pitched the first part of the game for Fullerton and showed up well. Faunin relieved him in the eighth frame. Hoover, who was a new man for Fullerton, showed up well, getting a homer with one man on base. Fullerton has a real team this season.

Lucasville Opens Season With Victory

The lid was pried off the baseball season at Lucasville, Sunday when the Lucasville nine won a hard fought game from Beaver, 3 to 2, the contest being won in the last half of the ninth. The score was 1 to 0 in favor of the Valley township organization up until the 8th when Beaver put across two runs. In the ninth Lucasville came back and put the winning run over the rubber.

Rumyon and Salyers were in the points for Lucasville. Rumyon was in mid-season form, fanning 15 of the visitors, allowing one walk and four safe singles. Lucasville gathered about five safeties off Van Fossan who was on the mound for Beaver. Lee was behind the bat for the losers.

McDermott Beats Old foe, Rarden

McDermott opened the 1923 baseball season with a victory over their ancient rivals, the Rarden Champs, on the stone quarry town diamond. Sunday afternoon, the score being 4 to 3. It was a fast game for an opener, the box artists keeping the hits well scattered. Thompson and Foster worked in the box for the Champs, while McDermott used Braman and Honston. Clark was the receiver for Rarden, and Thompson caught for McDermott. Next Sunday the Otway nine plays at McDermott.

Redlegs Are Drawing Well

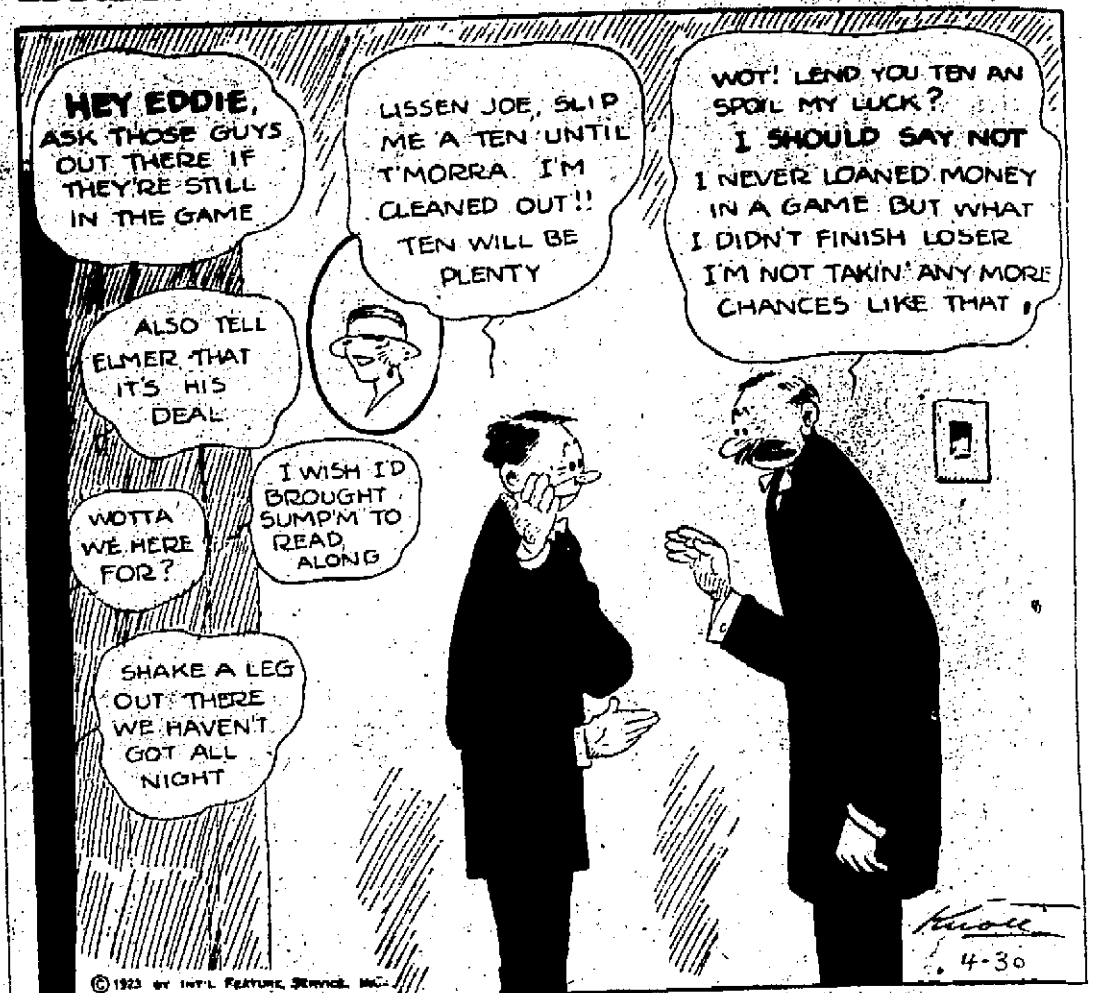

That the Cincinnati Reds are drawing well this spring is attested by the immense throng of nearly twenty-five thousand fans who turned out to witness the Sunday combat between the Moran tribe and the Pittsburgh Pirates at Redland field.

The weather was made to order yesterday for the pastime and although the big crowd was greatly disappointed in the outcome of the contest, Manager Pat and his players were given a vote of confidence by frequent applause. The team has now played to over eighty thousand paid admissions in its first six games.

Learn To Dance In Six Lessons! HOW TO FOLLOW

NOTE THE POSITION OF THE YOUNG WOMAN AS SHE CORRECTLY "FOLLOWS" ARTHUR MURRAY.

By ARTHUR MURRAY
Director, National Institute of Social Dancing.

(Copyright, 1923, NEA Service, Inc.)
The first essential to successful following is to know the steps. How can anyone expect to dance with a man unless she is familiar with the steps he will do?

The second requirement is that the lady dance in such a way as to ALWAYS BE READY FOR THE NEXT MOVEMENT, and incidentally keep her feet out of her partner's way. This is accomplished by cultivating the proper step.

It is most important for the lady to develop a long walking step. You can do it easily and gracefully by STRETCHING THE TOES BACKWARD. Make the toes step backward as far as possible. Whether you go backward, forward, or sideways, MAKE THE TOES LEAD.

In an effort to follow and to be light, girls will often "dip" or in other words, "give themselves up to their partners." This form of relaxing is detrimental to good following as the girl simply throws her weight on her partner and by losing control of her muscles, she becomes heavy.

To follow well, a girl must relax, but she cannot make her body supple without first becoming thoroughly familiar with the movements which her partner may do.

It is not enough for a girl to simply relax and let her partner literally carry her around. To follow well she must first train the muscles of her body to become thoroughly familiar with the various dancing steps her partner may do.

The lady should not lean or bear down heavily on her partner. The man has to hold his own arms up throughout the whole dance—a period of from three to fifteen minutes. If he must dance for that length of time with someone who leans heavily upon his arms, he will not consider his partner as a light dancer.

The weight of the person does not determine whether or not she is a light dancer. Fat people are usually the lightest dancers.

When dancing, do not slide the feet, but take them completely off the floor. When your foot is off the floor it is ready for the next step.

which your partner may take. To be light, dance on the tips of the toes. To follow well, let the man guide you through his movements. Do not, while dancing with a partner, think of your feet or your own steps. Train your feet to know the steps well enough so that they will be able to take care of themselves. Then, when you dance with a partner, trust your feet—not your mind—to follow your partner.

REDS LOSE SLUGGING BEE TO PITTSBURG PIRATES, 15 TO 9

Nearly two hundred Portsmouth fans took in the excursion, via the Norfolk and Western to Cincinnati Sunday and they saw the Reds go down to defeat before the Pittsburgh Pirates in a contest marked by free hitting by the score of 15 to 9.

Neither side was able to show much in a pitching way with the Smoketown crew having a shade the best of it on the mound in Morrison, who pitched the combat, and in Bagby who finished it. Manager Moran used nearly the entire Red squad in an effort to stem the tide but it availed nothing. Rixey, Keck, Benton and Harris were sent to the mound during the combat and they all looked alike to the Pirate batters. Eddie Hock, Portsmouth boy, got into the fray for a moment when he ran for Hargrave who while pitching hitting for Benton in the sixth, was hit with a pitched ball. Hock was left stranded at second.

The excursion train was handled admirably by the N. and W. the trip going and coming being made in record time, with not a single delay. The train carried a total of 331 persons, 150 of whom were from Portsmouth, 66 from Ironton and 44 from Keokuk and the others were picked up at Treble, Winchester and Sardinia. The train was in charge of conductor L. B. Payne and Engineer Otto Salsburg and Fireman L. N. Hoffer all of this city.

IF NOT WHEREFORE

THE administration is deeply disturbed over the sudden and extreme rise in the price of sugar. Because it bears sharply on the consumer? Not in the least.

Then wherefore? Because of the disastrous affect it is feared it will have upon the Republican party in next year's presidential election.

So the whole bunch have gone to explain why it is and why it is not. Mr. Harding started to telling the people, early this spring, that the new tariff had nothing to do with it and he has so deluded himself into that belief that he is going to reiterate from Washington to Portland and then back again, in his swing around the circle next summer.

To be sure he has to find some excuse, but while he was about it he should get an excuse that didn't both internally and externally contradict itself. The new tariff raised the duty on raw sugar from Cuba 1.75 cents a pound; from other countries it raised it also. Now, if that raise was not meant to raise the price of sugar there certainly was no need of passing the increase. Nobody would have wanted it passed and unless some powerful interest desired it to be written on the books it is idle to assert it never would have been.

Mr. Harding, we fear, will have more than a little trouble working on the people, his game of seeing it and now you don't.

"CURSE" VERSUS INSECT

IT appeals to some imaginations to suppose that Lord Carnarvon died with blood poisoning, the victim of an ancient curse pronounced upon any impious hand that might disturb the last resting place of King Tut-ankh-Amen. It appeals to the good sense of others to suppose that he is the victim of an insect's bite. Modern medicine has done much to dispel old superstitions and to demonstrate that a germ is far more to be feared than a curse.

Man may well laugh at "curses" laid upon him by another. The only kind of curse that he needs to fear is the kind he may invoke upon himself. Evil thoughts, evil habits and sinful practices may indeed lay a dark mantle upon the mind and soul. But clean thoughts, good habits and useful living may pronounce a benediction upon the most humble of those who are made in the image of God.

Lord Carnarvon need no reason to fear a heathen curse, or any other kind that had been invoked on him. The witches' brother is not so potent, or so real, as the virus or germ that may be carried by a thousand indiscriminate creatures almost too small for the eye to see.

WORDS

IT is announced that the cost of printing the Congressional Record for the recent short and final session of the sixty-seventh congress was made than $300,000. Four thousand dollars a day to lay before the people the priceless aphorisms, the soaring eloquence, the contributions to human knowledge of their representatives.

The extra edition of the Record, got out two weeks after congress quit, alone cost over $10,000. More than half of this issue is devoted to speeches that, paradoxically, never were delivered. The insertion of such side remarks in parentheses as "applause" and "laughter" might lead the unsophisticated to believe that these rhetorical efforts commanded the absorbed attention of large and appreciative audiences. But the dramatic and graceful gestures practiced in private were never needed. The authors obtained "leave to print" and the country was granted the privilege not only of reading these productions, if it felt like it, but of paying heavily, whether it read them or not. It is figured that the printing bill for these pseudo speeches alone exceeds $5,500 in this single issue.

And the people foot the bill. Adequate reports of all these speeches—that is, the ones actually delivered—were printed in the newspaper at the time. There was no need whatever for their publication. One forenoon the senate took up a couple of hours solemnly debating the weighty question of what time it should assemble for business next day. And all the remarks were scrupulously reported for the Record.

"What do you read, my lord?" And Hamlet replied: "Words, words, words."

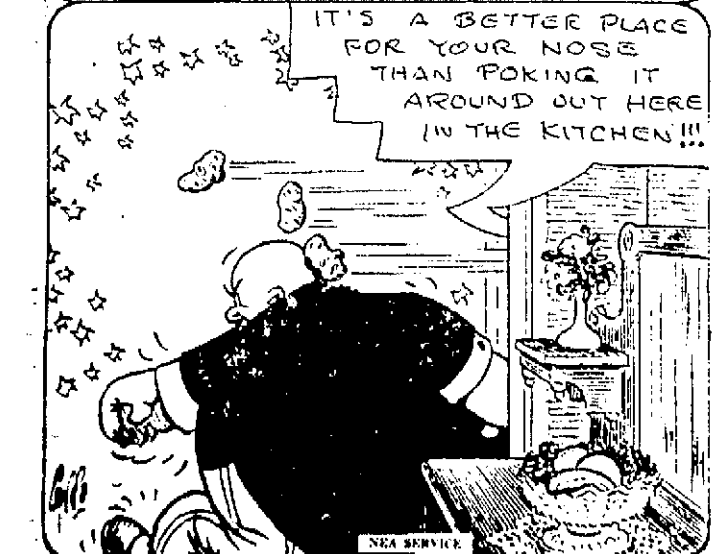

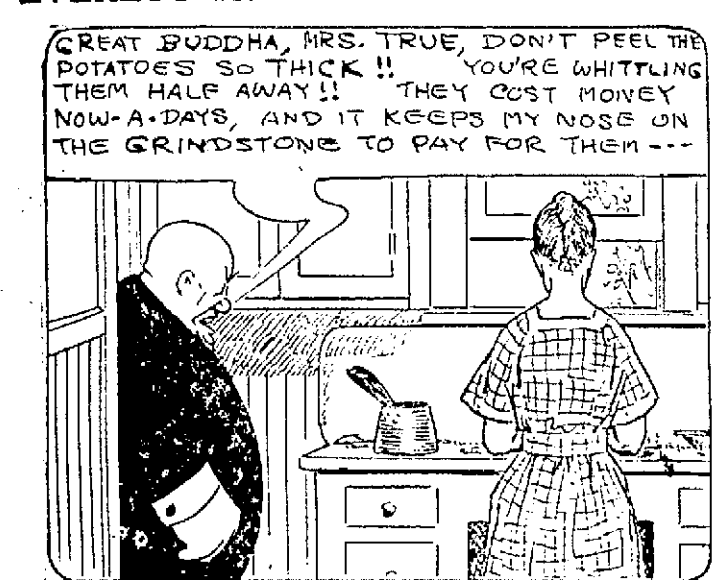

Nothing gets so low but what it can get lower, as witness the descent of the German mark.

The prevalence of movements against this and that suggests that the world is approaching an antichimax.

It is claimed that there has been a marked decline in the writing of love letters. Folk are growing more cautious.

New York-Day-By-Day

BY C. O. MCINTIRE

NEW YORK, April 23—A page from the diary of a modern Samuel Pepys: Up and read the line article P. Kelley bath writ about doctors in Current History. Came, then, Arthur Coche; the pamphleteer, and to walk with him through the town.

Putting in at a shop, in an night instant, I trod on the foot of a play actor and he wroth and we had high words, the great zany. To lunch at the Crillon and ate three raspberry pasties.

Labouring awhile at fashioning a fiction story, but it grew so hopeless I tore it up and so away again to play. Kelly pool, the first time in many months, but showed noble skill.

In the evening to see Pauline Frederick in a grieving play and liked it not at all. So later to H. Swope's and found there King Lardner, Marc Connelly, Peter Kynch, C. O. Gage and many others. Thence home and to bed.

There are 14,000 cruising taxicabs in greater New York. Because of them the main arteries of traffic are hopelessly jammed. The cruising taxi is the greatest menace to life on New York streets. The driver's head is almost always turned toward the curb in search of fares. He does not watch where he is going. Three quarters of the total number of cruising taxis are empty most of the time.

A young man who dropped a stamped envelope with nothing in it in a down town post-office letter box explained rather triumphantly he was a student of a correspondence school and was cutting classes.

Then another wheeze. The radio fan, bubbling with enthusiasm, announces at breakfast that the night before he got Alaska. "Nothing," said the cynic. "I stuck my head out of the window and got Chili." Somebody will write and tell me that's an old one.

Those who have trifled with the little slip-over match box and received one of America's best burns will appreciate the act of a smoker on top of a Fifth Avenue bus. He

Ominous Words

By Bertion Braley

THERE'S a prospect most alluring
In the thought of motor-touring
And of gyrating the highways far
Away from our shoddy
Till amid our contemplation
We receive the information—
"Heaven help us, they've been working on the roads!"

WE can navigate the wastes
Where the water whirls and sloshes
We can cling through dismal marshes
Full of snakes and frogs and lizards.

But we raise a doleful chorus
When this terror is before us,
Heaven help us, they've been working on the roads."

FOR we know the perils lurking
Where the highway gangs are working.
How they dump the mud in mountains and the stone in mighty loads.

When no other vision daunts us,
Here a fear that always haunts us—
Heaven help us, they've been working on the roads."

PUNCTURE, blowout, engine trouble
Fret the owner of a bubble.
And he's always getting tangled in the local laws and codes;
But there's none of these that frees

Like that awfullest of phrases,
Heaven help us, they've been working on the roads."

GRANNY

By A. S. Alexander

She's just a trail and silent body,
With the moon's rays in her hair,
Fillin' a wee quiet niche in the world,
Knittin' awa' wi' her fingers garled,
Croonin' while rockin' her auld armchair,
Muslin' o' days gane by.

She's just a dear auld lovin' body,
Wi' her tender winnin' smile,
Soothin' balms balms in their bits
o' tears,
Dichtin' awa' their quick-raisin'
tears,
Hushin' the sleep the bonnie wee dears,
Mindin' them a' in prayer.

She's just a sweet auld patient body,
Wi' peace lines writ on her face,
Coonin' The Book wi' recent love,
Communin' saft wi' the One above,
Waitin' there till the heavenly dove,
Bring her the sumous bane.

Found Out

"Tommy, do you want some nice plum jam?"

"Yes, mother."

"I was going to give you some to put on your bread, but I've lost the key to the pantry."

"You don't need the key, mother.
I can reach down through the window and open the door from the inside."

"That's what I wanted to know.
Now just wait till your father comes home."

"Now," said a Boston school teacher to his class in English, "can anyone give me a word ending in 'ous,' meaning full of, as 'dangerous,' full of danger, and 'hazardous,' full of hazard?"

For a moment there was dead silence. Then a small boy raised his hand.

"Well," queried the teacher, "what is your word?"

"Then came the reply, 'Pious,' full of pie."

Making Himself at Home

Little Madge was in high excitement: a baby brother had arrived on the scene. She spread the good news, and among others told the gardener, a bit of a wag. "The question is," said the old man, "is the new baby going to stay?"

"Oh, yes, he means to stay," said
Madge, "he's got his things off."

Epidemic

The schoolmaster asked his class if any of them could tell him what an epidemic was.

No answer.

"Well, I will tell you. An epidemic is anything that spreads. Now, what is an epidemic?"

"Jam, sir," shouted the class, in chorus.—London Examiner.
